Theological School.

This School was established through efforts which originated in the New York Universalist Educational Society, and is sustained by the Universalist denomination of christians. The School was opened for the reception of students on the 15th of April, 1858.

Its location is at Canton, St. Lawrence County, N. Y.; situated on the Potsdam & Watertown Railroad, by means of which and its connections it may be easily reached from any part of the United States.

The school is located in a fine and fertile country, whose climate is very healthy, and congenial to study.

There are many Universalist Societies in St. Lawrence County, which furnish extensive opportunities for preaching, thus giving to the students of the Theological School the double advantage of actual practice in their chosen profession, and of gaining at the same time considerable pecuniary assistance. Several of the students have, during the past term, paid in this manner their entire bill for board.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

Applicants for admission must bring satisfactory testimonials as to their moral and religious character. If they are members of any church they should bring with them a certificate to that effect. They must also be acquainted with the essential branches of a good English education. They must be believers in the Holy Scriptures, and must have a fixed determination to devote their lives to the christian ministry.

HERRING LIBRARY.

This Library was founded by the munificence of S. C. Herring, of New York. It contains a valuable and well selected collection of more than 4000 volumes, comprising the libraries of the late Prof. Credner, of the University of Giessen, and also that of the late Rev. S. C. Loveland. The ample advantages thus furnished to students will be much increased by constant and liberal additions to the Library.

Lessons in Elocution are given on Monday of each week. During the second term of the first year there are exercises in composition on Wednesday of each week. When the study of Homiletics is commenced, in the second year, sermons will be read and criticised on Wednesday of each week, and this exercise will be continued during the entire course of study after that time. It is intended, also, to pursue a systematic course of critical scriptural readings.

VACATIONS.

The academic year commences on the second Wednesday in September,* and consists of two terms of twenty weeks each. There are two vacations, one of two weeks at the close of the first term; the other of ten weeks next preceding the commencement of the academic year.

*NOTE.—On account of the U. S. Convention, the Commencement of the Academical year will this year be postponed until Monday, Sept. 26th.

CHARGES.

No charge is made for tuition, or for the use of the Library. Good board is furnished in the Institution, at $2 25 per week, washing included. Students are expected to furnish their own bedding, and the furniture of their rooms. A merely nominal sum is charged for room rent.

Text books are furnished at the Institution at the lowest wholesale prices.

All students are required to work at some manual employment, two hours in each working day; and the proceeds of their labor goes to their benefit.

THE COLLEGIATE AND PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT.

The College proper is not formally opened, and will not be for several months to come. In the meantime a Preparatory School has been opened in the University under the charge of Prof. Lee, who will receive and fit students for College, and also receive advanced students who wish to pursue their Freshman or Sophomore studies, with the view of entering College when it does open.

Students not intending to enter College, also, who desire to pursue the prescribed course of study, will be admitted. Both males and females will be admitted to this department.

The following course of study has been prescribed for this department, by the Executive Committee:

Junior Class.—Latin Grammar and Reader—Andrews & Stoddard's. Cæsar or Sallust commenced. Arithmetic. Algebra—Robinson's. Geometry—Davies' Legendre. Modern Geography. History of the United States. Eng. Grammar.

Middle Class.—Greek Grammar and Lessons—Crosby's. Cæsar or Sallust finished. Cicero commenced—Johnson's. Xenophon's Anabasis—Crosby's ed. Ancient Geography—Mitchell's. Ancient History. Greek Antiquities.

Senior Class.—Anabasis finished. Homer's Iliad—Felton's. Greek Prosody. Greek Prose Composition—Arnold's. Cicero finished. Virgil—Bowen's. Latin Prose Composition—Arnold's. Latin Prosody. Roman Antiquities. Review of the studies of the course.

Persons desiring to fit themselves for the higher course of university education, can have the benefit of attending, free of charge, the lectures of Prof. Fisher upon Rhetoric, Logic, Mental and Moral Philosophy.

The terms begin and end the same as those of the Theological Department.

The rates for tuition are as follows:

Junior	Class,	for term of 20 weeks,	$9 00
Middle	Class,	" "	10 50
Senior	Class,	" "	12 00

Students in this department can obtain board at the University building, or in the village, upon the same terms as the theological students, at $2 25 per week, but they will furnish their own rooms, and pay a small charge for room rent. They also can have an opportunity to work upon the College grounds, if they choose, and thus defray in part their expenses.

All students of this department are required to be present at the Chapel exercises every morning, and attend meeting at one of the churches in the village each Sunday.

Rules in relation to general deportment, study, lessons, &c., will be made as circumstances require.

Books for this department can be obtained at the University.

Further particulars in relation to the Institution, can be obtained by addressing either of the Professors, or the Secretary.
